Egg farm could begin operation this fall

BY BOB DEMAREE

Operations of an egg farm in northern Jefferson County could begin sometime this fall with construction underway by Vital Farms, a Texas-based company that purchased 81.79 acres in December at 9499 East Poplar Ridge Road near the borders of both Ripley and Switzerland counties.

Vital Farms is described by the company's vice president of communications, Rob Discher, as "being built on long term outcomes. What's so different about that is a lot of companies across the board, and especially in the food industry, are really prioritizing short-term returns instead these longer term sustainable positive outcomes."

He said the way Vital Farms produces food is also different than others in the industry. "We don't have big factory farms. We work with a much smaller farming model. The company works with over 450 family farms to produce their pasture raised eggs." Jefferson County's egg farm will also be a small operation, but it will be an exception in that it is one that Vital Farms will own and operate, called an Accelerator Farm, that not only produces eggs but allows Vital Farms to do the work to improve the processes for egg production. "Accelerator Farms have the potential to be ground zero for the future of ethical food for supporting family farms in this industry," said Discher.

Erik Evensen, general manager of Accelerator Farms for Vital Farms, said the Accelerator Farms "allow us a little bit of blank slate to work on things, push the standards forward" while being apprised of animal welfare and production.

Evensen noted that when thinking about production, "it correlates to how you treat the birds. There's a circular reference of what we can do from an animal welfare perspective and what we might get from a production perspective."

While the work at the Poplar Ridge farm could be characterized as research and development, Evensen said what that means is "raising the standards or testing the equipment. It is not a vast departure from what we've done on family farms," said Evensen. He said it does allow control to raise the standards in testing new equipment and proving it works before Vital Farms would recommend its family farmers to make the investments.

At the Accelerator Farms, "we can control the stakes and understand what works and what doesn't work. Some of this equipment is expensive, and it's good to test things that are expensive or processes that are complex or uncertain" so that those family farms aren't impacted. "The consequences could be really detrimental to the (family) farmer" with such an investment, and they want to avoid that.

Evensen said Accelerator Farm will also provide a presence and visibility to "see our operations first hand" to better understand the process.

Vital Farms' egg farm on Poplar Ridge Road will have one barn with 20,000 hens. Discher said the experience for most people is seeing large operation egg farms with "hundreds of thousands of birds" but the Accelerator Farms will be operated as a small farm and serve as an example for family owned farms.

"It's one of those things that I think will make a lot more sense when we can get things up and running," he said. "We can actually show you what they look like. As you drive past these these farms on the road, they're going to look like the family farms that are in the area" that's raising crops or other farm animals. "They'll also be some of the nicest barns in a lot of these communities because what we're trying to do is find out what is the best-in-class standard within this model."

Even though the Accelerator Farm will be owned by Vital Farms, and technically not a family farm, it will operate like a family farm, said Discher, with one or two employees.

He said Vital Farms will have only a few company-owned operations with the vast majority of the producers family-owned operations. "Ninety-five percent of our eggs will continue to come from family farms, and the families own those operations" including the land, the birds and the farms.

At a recent meeting of the Jefferson County Plan Commission meeting, there were concerns raised from residents in the area about damage on Poplar Ridge Road caused by construction at the Vital Farms property.

Evensen said he has discussed that with Jefferson County Highway Superintendent Jason Copeland, and told him, "We're committed to making that better," and will resolve any issues with the road after construction is complete.

Huff crowned 2025 Miss Jefferson County

BY BOB DEMAREE

Sydney Huff's love for agriculture was on display during Wednesday's Miss Jefferson County Pageant in which she was crowned queen for this year's 4-H Fair.

Huff, who will be a senior this fall at Madison Consolidated High School, said during the competition that she "loves to show pigs, and all things agriculture."

Huff has competed on the National Junior Swine Association circuit, including producing a reserve champion at the Winter National in Georgia. In addition to showing pigs at this year's Jefferson County 4-H Fair, Huff will also show sheep.

After graduation from high school, Huff plans to attend Western Kentucky University to prepare for a career in agriculture sales. She is the daughter of Jason and Heather Huff.

First runner-up was Berlynn Conover, daughter of Emily Roberts and Michael Conover. She attends Madison Consolidated High School and plans to enroll at Purdue University and study veterinarian medicine after graduation.

Second runner-up was Lilly Waller, daughter of Melissa Wolf and Ian Waller. She is a 2025 graduate of Madison Consolidated High School. She plans to pursue veterinary medicine through Penn Foster.

Third runner-up was Paige Campbell, daughter of Steve and Beth Campbell. She is a 2024 graduate of Shawe Memorial High School and plans to attend cosmetology school.

This year's Jefferson County 4-H Fair will be July 7-12.

Hanover Plan endorses zoning changes for three properties

BY BOB DEMAREE

The Hanover Plan Commission voted unanimously to favorably recommend changing the zoning for three properties owned by Troy Trinkle from residential agriculture to highway commercial at its meeting Monday.

The properties, located at 6607 West State Road 56, 6583 West State Road 56 and 1824 South Carmel Road, are all in Hanover and owned by Trinkle.

Trinkle, of Jeffersonville, requested the change in order for the property to be zoned correctly on properties operated commercially.

"We always thought it was supposed to be zoned what you've asked for, because businesses have always been there," said Treva Shelton, a Hanover Town Council member who also serves on the plan commission.

Trinkle said, "I basically assumed that also until I started looking at details."

With the favorable recommendation by Plan Commission, the zoning change now needs approval by Hanover Town Council.

Bid for Hanover street repairs exceeds budget

BY BOB DEMAREE

The only bid Hanover received for crack filling and seal coating was nearly $200,000 more than the city has in funding for that work.

The bid opening for the project was held Monday at a special meeting of Hanover Town Council. The lone bid received was for $427,418.30 from All-Star Paving of Seymour.

In March, the town was awarded a $178,110 Community Crossings Matching Grant (CCMG) for crack filling, striping and seal coating on Main Street, Madison Avenue, Main Cross Street, Thornton Road and East Kuntz Road. The town's 25% match is $59,370, making $237,480 the total amount available.

The town council voted to take the matter under advisement since the lone bid being was higher than the funding available.

CHARLIE'S BEAT

Roostertail goes mainstream country

Now in its 7th year, the popular Roostertail Music Festival that overlays our annual July 4th weekend hydroplane Madison Regatta is back again, but this time with a few tweaks that the organizers hope will make it even more appealing and exciting. "We've built this year's music lineup to be a bit more pop or mainstream country," explains Kyle Bipes, Regatta president and a long time volunteer board member. "Brent Turner and Drew Eades who used to manage Roostertail tended more towards the genre of Alt or Outlaw country, and that was very successful and built a great loyal following. "But Brent and Drew decided to strike out on their own this year and start their very own music event in September called Unbroken Circle Festival, and we wish them the best of luck with that. But that left us with kind of a clean slate to maybe try something a little different. "We think the more mainstream or Nashville style country music might have a great appeal with regatta race fans and our many local supporters. This is the music you hear everyday on your local country radio station and winning the CMT music awards on television. Randy Houser on Friday and Dustin Lynch on Saturday are super popular headliners, and we think the response is going to be fantastic."

Now I'll confess that I don't know that much about today's country music or who's hot right now. But I do know that YouTube numbers don't lie. If you have a song that really hits, your views will be in the millions. Randy Houser has a song titled "How Country Feels" that has 45 million views. And Dustin Lynch's tune

“Small Town Boy” has been viewed more than 176 million times! That’s the real deal right there. If you go to see the show you’re gonna see total pros who know how to entertain and deliver a good time.

But it’s not just the big national acts that will be taking the stage. “We wanted to have a showcase for our great local talent as well,” explains Kyle. “Thursday night will be free admission, and will feature Outlier, Anthony Ray Wright, the Mood, Rusty Bladen, and John Schneider.

“Getting John Schneider added to the bill was kind of a pleasant surprise. As many people know, the Dukes of Hazard star calls Madison his part-time home, and he recently announced he is kicking off a year long tour with his country band. He was kind enough to make Roostertail his first show on the tour, and we feel blessed to have him join the line-up.

“Some folks may remember that John had a country music career after the Dukes of Hazard, with several No. 1 albums and hits to his name. This is a special opportunity to see him perform for free on Thursday here in Madison. “We feel like Roostertail is becoming an integral part of the music scene in Madison, now that we’ve been around a few years. We are very aware that we are in the heart of Indiana’s Music City, and there’s an expectation that the festival be a quality event with the very best talent. The festivals that have been going on long before us have set a high bar, and it’s our intention to live up to Madison’s great reputation for exceptional music festivals.”

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

Not only is our live music calendar fatter and juicier than ever, but I’m seeing THREE open mic opportunities for those who want to strut their stuff. The open mic at 1st Street Saloon is usually out back on the patio and super chill and fun. And the two open stages at Mad Paddle and TimelessLIVE on Thursday will give plenty of folks a chance in the spotlight. Speaking of showing what you got ... there is another album release party at Red Bicycle Hall this Friday, this one by Nashville resident and friend of Jimmy Davis, Tim Wolf. This is the THIRD album release at Red Bike, which is quickly becoming the preferred showcase whenever an artist wants to debut their original work to an appreciative audience. If you like to sample fresh tunes from a gifted songwriter, check out the scene at The Bike!

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

OBITUARIES

Donna Margaret (Hixson) Walters

Donna Margaret (Hixson) Walters, age 82, of Versailles, IN, slipped away to be with her Lord and Savior on Friday, June 20, 2025, at the mature and beautiful age of 82. A devoted wife, mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, and spiritual mother, to many around the world, Donna leaves behind a legacy of deep faith, steady wisdom, and unwavering love.

Born in Toppenish, Wash., to Ted and Emma Hixson, Donna was the second of five children. She grew up surrounded by sisters-Evelyn, Marilyn, and Sharon-and carried the memory of an infant brother who passed shortly after birth. In 1962, while attending International Bible College in San Antonio, TX, Donna met and married Leon Walters. Together, they began a life centered on ministry, family, and service. After graduating, they moved to Denver, CO, where they raised their three daughters and built a successful business.

The call to ministry eventually led them to Phoenix, AZ, in 1979, where they joined Donna's sister, Evelyn, and brother-in-law, Bishop Bill Hamon, in founding Christian International. Five years later, in 1984, they relocated to Santa Rosa Beach, FL, to help establish the ministry's headquarters. Their final move came in 1992, when they settled in Versailles, IN, to co-found the regional sub-headquarters of CI Apostolic Network, CI-Central, and the Christian International Family Worship Center. For more than 30 years, she served her community and region with grace, strength, and deep compassion. Known by many as Apostle "Momma" Donna, she was an ordained minister whose counsel was both practical and prophetic, offered with compassion, care, and lots of love. She is remembered by her family for her love of cooking, sewing and reading.

Apostle "Momma Donna" will be missed by her loving husband of nearly 63 years, Apostle M. Leon Walters of Versailles, IN; her daughters, Deona Sadler of Nashville, TN, Donetta Barrett and her husband, Tim of Versailles, IN, Devra Harrison of Versailles, IN; her grandchildren, Joel Sadler (Michelle), Saul Sadler (Tori), Jennifer Myers (Gary), Zachery Barrett, Dawson Harrison, Jesse Barrett, Noah Harrison, Anna Barrett, Lilly Harrison, and Kelly Harrison; her great-grandchildren, Alexa, Janeya, Malachi, Amelia, Leonidas, Marley, Ava, D'Artagnon, Simon, Uriah, and Salem; her two beloved dogs, Sammy and Sandy, who will surely miss her gentle presence as well; Donna also leaves behind a large extended family-brothers in law, sisters in law, nieces, nephews, great nieces, and great nephews-as well as countless spiritual sons, and daughters, across the globe.

She was preceded in death by her father, Theodore Hixson, her mother, Emma Wheeler Hixson, her beloved sisters, Evelyn Hamon, Marilyn King and Sharon Hedman.

Our Hearts Ache at her absence, and the space she held in so many lives will be deeply missed.

Public memorial services will be conducted Monday, July 7, 2025, at 4 p.m. (EST) at the Christian International Family Worship Center, 2377 East County Road 250 South near Versailles, IN. Inurnment will follow at a later date in the Cliff Hill Cemetery in Versailles, IN.

Private family visitation will be held on Thursday, July 3, 2025, from 4 - 6 p.m., at the Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre, 325 Demaree Drive Madison, IN.

Georgia Nelson Marnett

Georgia Nelson Marnett, age 77 of Madison, IN, after bravely battling cancer for a year and half, passed away peacefully on June 22, 2025, in Louisville, KY, surrounded by her loving family. She was born June 24, 1947, in Madison, WI, to James and Harriett Nelson. At the age of eight, she moved with her parents to Toledo, OH, where she lived until she graduated from Whitmer High School in 1965. She then moved to Ann Arbor, MI, to attend the University of Michigan, where she earned her Bachelor's Degree in Education. She later earned her Master's Degree from Indiana University.

After college, she met Lee Marnett in Ann Arbor in 1970. They were married on June 23, 1973, and welcomed their first daughter, Chris, in 1975. The family moved to Madison, IN, in 1978, where Georgia worked for over 30 years as a special-ed elementary school teacher. Her second daughter, Lindsay, arrived in 1981. She and her family, being music lovers, spent most gatherings playing, or listening to music. Georgia could play the guitar, and piano, and had a beautiful singing voice. They spent most summers at their beach house near Traverse City, MI, where they enjoyed swimming, sailing, kayaking, and collecting Petoskey stones. It was their happy place and Georgia's favorite time with her kids and grandkids.

She dedicated her career to helping children with special needs. It was her mission to give them the education they deserved and a chance at a happy and productive life. She also volunteered for many years and served as president of ARC, an organization that helps mentally challenged adults find independence through employment and housing. Her generosity and selflessness set a beautiful and enduring example for her daughters and grandchildren. Her decades of teaching have had a lasting impact on the children she reached and the community where she lived. Georgia made the world a better place and will be missed by so many.

Georgia will be missed by her loving husband of 52 years, Lee William Marnett of Madison, IN; her loving daughters, Chris Hoogenboom (Rob), and Lindsay Clark; her beloved grandchildren, Madi, Ruby and Colin. Wednesday morning fire damages FAS Plastics

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A Wednesday morning fire at FAS Plastics Enterprises was contained to a small area of the factory, but production was shutdown the rest of the week.

Hanover Township Volunteer Fire Department was dispatched to a report of a commercial structure fire at approximately 12:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Jefferson County Sheriff's deputies were first on the scene, reporting smoke coming from the building, located at 3408 West State Road 56 in Hanover, for what seemed to be the entire building having an electrical charge.

According to a Hanover Fire Department report, "one deputy stated the door knob gave him a good bite when trying to open the door."

With Jefferson County dispatchers receiving more information, Madison Township Fire Department was requested to provide mutual aid.

The first arriving fire units completed a walk through and found two separate fires in different areas of the complex. One fire was easily put out with a fire extinguisher. The other fire was high in the trusses of one building where the main electrical supply for injection molds is located.

It was still visibly arcing at that time and plant maintenance workers indicated that they could isolate and disconnect the power supply to that area. After the power was disconnected it was safe for firefighters to apply water to the fire.

The area affected by the fire was relatively small but due to the involvement of the several electrical components, Hanover Fire Chief Ron Kroger said the repair process could be more complicated.

Hanover Fire Department received support and assistance from Madison Township Fire Department, Jefferson County Dispatch, Jefferson County Sheriff's Office, Norton's King's Daughters EMS and Duke Energy.

FORMER DOLLAR GENERAL FIRE

A fire at the vacant Dollar General store building, 408 Jefferson Street, was brought under control in a short amount of time by city of Madison firefighters last week.

Madison Fire Department responded at approximately 11 p.m. Thursday, June 19, to a report of a large amount of smoke coming from the roof of the unoccupied one-story 6,561 square-foot commercial structure. While responding, Jefferson County Central Dispatch began receiving additional calls for service.

Arriving units reported heavy smoke throughout the building and self-venting through the roof line. Firefighters forced entry through the front door and began attacking the fire. The amount and density of the smoke slowed the progress of firefighters due to a lack of visibility. The fire was brought under control in approximately 30 minutes. The building was not occupied at the time of the incident.

The Madison Area Chamber of Commerce building, 301 East Main Street, is in close proximity of the former Dollar General building, but the quick actions of firefighters kept the fire from spreading and caused no damage to the Chamber building

The cause of the fire is under a joint investigation between the Madison Fire Department and the Indiana State Fire Marshals Office.

Responding agencies included Madison Fire Department, Norton King's Daughters' Health EMS, Duke Energy and Center Point Energy.

The building was originally an A&P Grocery, having moved to that location around 1949 with the store closing in 1972, and next becoming Dollar General Store that closed last fall with the opening of the DG Market on Second Street.

In the last couple of weeks, shelving from the Dollar General Store was seen being removed from the building, owned by Curt Rafferty, who also owns the DG Market.

"The developer still has a lease with Dollar General and the city has first right to buy it if he decides to sell," Deputy Mayor Tony Steinhardt III said Monday morning.

Guarding Against Phishing Scams in 2025

By Stephen Dybwad
Retirement Planning/
Wealth Management

Phishing remains a persistent and evolving threat. Like a skilled angler, scammers bait their victims with convincing lures designed to steal personal and financial information. Staying vigilant is your best defense.

The scale of phishing attempts continues to rise dramatically. While specific 2025 projections are still being finalized, the trend of increasing volume and sophistication is undeniable. Phishing attacks are becoming harder to spot, with many designed to bypass traditional security measures. This means billions of individuals are at risk.

How Scammers Operate: Phishing scammers constantly innovate their tactics:

1. Email Impersonation: They often send emails that appear to come from legitimate companies or organizations.

These emails may prompt you to "update account information" or "confirm a purchase," often including links to fake websites. Entering your details on these fraudulent sites allows scammers to steal your identity or make unauthorized charges.

2. Social Media & Text Messages (Smishing/Vishing): Scammers increasingly use social media and text messages (smishing) to pose as friends, acquaintances, or even use threats. Phone scams (vishing) are also prevalent, with fraudsters employing sophisticated social engineering tactics and sometimes leveraging personal information to gain trust or intimidate victims.

Your Best Protection: Knowledge and Vigilance

Protecting yourself requires proactive steps: Be Skeptical of Unsolicited Communications: Never automatically trust emails, texts, or calls, even if they seem to be from a known entity.

Verify Requests Independently: If a message requests personal information or immediate action, do not respond directly or click links. Instead, contact the company or person using a verified phone number or website (e.g., from their official site, not the suspicious message).

Look for Red Flags: Be wary of generic greetings, poor grammar/spelling, urgent threats, or unusual sender addresses.

Keep Software Updated: Ensure your operating systems, browsers, and security software (antivirus, anti-malware) are always current, as updates often patch known vulnerabilities.

Report Suspicious Activity: If you receive a suspicious communication, report it. In the U.S., you can report fraud to the FTC's fraud department at <https://reportfraud.ftc.gov/>. You can also forward suspicious emails to the Anti-Phishing Working Group at reportphishing@apwg.org.

By staying informed and exercising caution, you can significantly reduce your risk of becoming a phishing victim.

Morrison to step aside as athletic director at Madison

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Patric Morrison has announced his resignation as Athletic Director at Madison Consolidated Schools, effective Aug. 1.

Morrison spent three years in the job of AD after replacing Joe Bronkella at the helm. He was assistant athletic director under Bronkella for three years prior to that following a successful five-year stint as head football coach.

"At this point in my life, I feel called to prioritize my immediate family. This was not an easy decision as I care so much about our athletic programs," Morrison said in a statement. "I'm hopeful that I'll remain involved with Madison Athletics in a different capacity moving forward ... My family and I will always be proud to be Madison Cubs."

Morrison, who graduated from Madison Consolidated High School before graduating from Hanover College, guided Madison Athletics to 10 sectional championships in his three years on the job, including four each the past two seasons. The four titles represented the most in a single season for the school since winning four in 2013-14 and you have to go back to 2005-06, when Madison won five, to find a season with more crowns.

Morrison will not be headed to another school but rather has accepted a job at Madison Fasteners in town.

Patric Morrison has announced his resignation as athletic director at Madison Consolidated High School. In three years in the post, Madison teams won 10 sectional championships, equaling the number won in the previous six years combined.

MADISON COURIER BASEBALL PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Finally healthy, Johnson provides bat, leadership Cubs needed

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Not many high school athletes are willing to put in the work required to rehab from Tommy John surgery, especially non-pitchers who often don't see the benefit in going through all of the trouble to get back to 100%.

But Nick Johnson is not like most athletes and when it came to getting back on the field healthy, nobody worked harder.

"He was able to bounce back pretty quick from it, because he took his rehab very seriously. He was very regimented about it," Madison coach Kyle Harsin said. "You can't tell that he had any arm problems whatsoever. And that's a testament to him and his work ethic. He was definitely serious about his recovery, and a lot of it was his commitment to his team, because he knew that he had to be ready to go beginning of the season because he was gonna be our primary catcher. I'm proud of what he's accomplished."

Johnson was rewarded for his hard work with an impressive season for the 16-win Cubs and is this year's Madison Courier Baseball Player of the Year.

Johnson showed from the beginning of the season that he was ready to play. He blasted six home runs while batting .413 and slugging at a .747 clip. He drove in 30 runs and scored 12 all the while playing the most physically demanding position in the sport.

"I have put a lot into (hitting), but not as much as I wish I could have. I wish I could have put in more," Johnson said. "That break last year allowed me to focus on it a lot, and since that was the only thing I could do if I wanted to do anything with baseball, I hit. And so I was able to that. I really was able to dial in that part of my game."

Johnson didn't show any ill effects from the elbow injury, which he suffered late in his sophomore year. Although he said he still felt some tightness, Harsin said Johnson still has one of the best arms for a catcher that he has ever seen.

"If you saw him, you'd never know that he had the surgery," Harsin said.

For Johnson, the most important thing was to get back on the field and if that meant working hard in rehab, then so be it.

"I'm still (recovering) a little bit with just some tightness, just from not being used to throwing and catching. My body's still getting used to doing it again," Johnson said. "I was able to focus on my bat last year but it also hurt me catching-wise. I wouldn't say it's been a struggle, but it's been a hurdle to say the least."

Despite those hurdles, Johnson turned some heads with his play and recently signed to play at Indiana University Southeast, one of the top NAIA programs in the country. The chance to play at IUS came up only in the past month and Johnson jumped at the opportunity.

"They originally called me on May 22 and that was the first time I actually ever talked to anybody from IUS. I think they saw me one time there, but they didn't talk to me," said Johnson, who is thinking of either kinesiology or criminal justice as a college major. "I think some other parents on the team told them to look at me and it worked out."

Harsin, who played collegiately at Louisville and Hanover, believes that Johnson and IUS are a perfect fit.

"I think IUS is a great landing spot for him. I think he's going to go there and contribute," Harsin said. "They're going to really appreciate what they got in him."

Conditions look to be perfect for 75th Madison Regatta

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

With a week left before boats will hit the water, weather conditions look to be perfect for the upcoming 75th running of the Indiana Governor's Cup next weekend in Madison.

The Ohio River was running at 12.60 feet late Wednesday night as monitored at McAlpine Dam in Louisville and with no appreciable rain in the forecast, is expected to stay near pool stage of 12 feet for the next week. Anything under 16 feet is considered ideal to go racing in Madison.

In addition, the recent heat wave is expected to break by then and temperatures are forecast to be in the mid-to upper-80s with a 40% chance of rain.

The low water level, coupled with the brief rise in the river a few weeks ago, should have flushed out most of the debris and give Madison clean water.

"We're looking at some great water," Madison Regatta Vice-President Tim Bipes said at the weekly general membership meeting on Wednesday. "The debris should have been washed out, there's a low chance for rain. It should be a great weekend."

With just over a week left before the race, all systems appear to be go. A total of 40 raceboats are expected to be in the pits — six from the turbine-powered H1 Unlimited class — and a full schedule of music is set to run on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Marketing Chair Dan Cole announced that the Madison Regatta has received 1.7 million views on Facebook since June 1 and encouraged Regatta members to continue getting the word out.

"That's just an incredible number of views for an event of our size and the reason why is people are sharing the posts," Cole said. "I always say 'please share' and it's working."

Bipes announced that the event's Will-Call window will be located at Mad Paddle Brewery on the corner of West and Second streets and be open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday and from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.

Tarp spaces are expected to be marked by Thursday at the latest and RV campers can begin moving in on Tuesday.

The Madison Regatta Festival officially kicks off with a weekend of pageants on Saturday at Madison Consolidated High School's Opal E. Sherman Auditorium. The Roostertail Festival begins on Thursday and on-water action begins on Friday.

CINCINNATI — Major league debuts are a milestone for any player.

Chase Burns had one for the record books.

The Cincinnati Reds rookie became the first starting pitcher in the expansion era to strike out the first five batters on Tuesday night against the New York Yankees.

The 22-year old Burns, the second overall pick in last July's amateur draft, gave up three runs in five innings, but his teammates made sure that the night ended on a positive note as the Reds rallied for a 5-4 victory in 11 innings.

"I feel like after the first batter, I kind of settled in there, but I was amped up, so it was fun," Burns said. "It was everything I could ask for. I mean, to walk it off like that, to be in the dugout and see that, there's nothing better than that."

The right-hander struck out his first five batters before Jazz Chisholm Jr.'s single. He gave up six hits and struck out eight, the seventh Cincinnati starter to have at least that many

6-time All-Star Bonner waived by Fever

BY DOUG FEINBERG
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

The Indiana Fever waived DeWanna Bonner on Wednesday, giving the 16-year veteran her unconditional release.

Bonner had been away from the team since June 12, missing five games for personal reasons. She averaged 7.1 points and 3.8 rebounds a game for the Fever since coming to the franchise as a free agent in February.

"I want to sincerely thank the Indiana Fever for the opportunity to be part of the Fever franchise," Bonner said in a news release. "Despite our shared goals and excitement heading into the season, I felt the fit did not work out and I appreciate the organization's willingness to grant my request to move on, particularly at this point in my career. I wish the Fever great success as they continue to build around this dynamic group of young players."

MLB Speedway Classic Open House Event marks the construction of a baseball field at Bristol Motor Speedway in Bristol, Tenn., Tuesday, June 24. The Cincinnati Reds and Atlanta Braves will play baseball at the famous NASCAR bullring on Saturday, Aug. 2.

MLB, NASCAR stars talk the legends of Bristol as track transforms for historic ballgame

BY TERESA M. WALKER ASSOCIATED PRESS

NASCAR driver Ricky Stenhouse Jr. advises the Cincinnati Reds and Atlanta Braves to watch a couple of night races at Bristol Motor Speedway before the Speedway Classic. Once at the racetrack, he recommends a walk up the banked walls to truly appreciate the half-mile bullring.

MLB's Speedway Classic on Aug. 2 means either the Reds or Braves will win at Bristol before Stenhouse reaches victory lane at his favorite track. He still plans to watch as they play an MLB game on a ballpark built inside the Bristol infield.

"Hopefully, if they get one over the wall, kind of see where that ball ends up landing," Stenhouse said of the track where going over the wall usually means injuries and ambulances. "But, yeah, just a really cool venue and something that I'll be looking forward to watching."

Two-time Daytona 500 winner Michael Waltrip, now a Fox racing analyst, said search his 1990 crash where his car disintegrated after hitting a wall to learn how challenging Bristol can be.

He joined Stenhouse, former Braves centerfielder Andruw Jones, 2009 World Series champ Nick Swisher and three-time All-Star Reds first baseman and now MLB Network analyst Sean Casey in promoting the first MLB game in the state of Tennessee.

Waltrip said the banking of the track has to be seen to be believed and is a big part of its intensity.

"The banking is straight up," Waltrip said. "You can barely climb up it, and it's condensed down to a half-mile track. So you're just constantly in the corners and speeds upwards of 150 miles an hour. It's just crazy how precise and how technical you have to be to be successful there."

Trying to hit a baseball might be a bit easier than stepping into a racecar at Bristol. At those speeds, Stenhouse said he forgot to breathe for 10 laps his first time there.

Bristol still has tickets available for an event that will feature a pregame concert with Tim McGraw and Pitbull. A fan zone outside the track will feature more music, a 110-foot Ferris wheel, a food truck row, pitching tunnels and batting cages and team mascots.

"It's going to be one of those special nights that goes down in history," said Jerry Caldwell, president of Bristol Motor Speedway. "People are going to want to be there and want to be a part of it or tune in on Fox and take in this event."

Casey played in a March 2008 exhibition between the Red Sox and Dodgers at Los Angeles Coliseum that drew 115,300 for the largest crowd ever to see a baseball game. Casey said this crossover gives baseball fans a reason to check out Bristol and NASCAR fans the chance to see something different.

Players like Reds shortstop Elly De La Cruz and Atlanta outfielder Ronald Acuña Jr. will get an experience to remember.

"These guys that are going to be able to have that memory of playing at Bristol, it's going to be a one of a kind thing," Casey said.

Stenhouse said he played some wiffle ball during the last stop in Bristol. NASCAR will be in Iowa with a Cup race Aug. 3, but he hopes to sneak over from his North Carolina home for a chance to hit some hard balls over the fence at Bristol — or pitch off the mound.

"I hit a wiffle ball over the fence," Stenhouse said. "Yeah, it would be cool to get there and take the field in all at the same time."

have found their next franchise superstar less than five months after trading one away.

Mavericks fans were furious when Dallas traded Luka Doncic to the Los Angeles Lakers on Feb. 1, some immediately threatening to end their support of the team.

But the ones who stuck around may quickly love Flagg, the college player of the year who averaged 19.2 points and 7.5 rebounds while leading Duke to the Final Four. The Mavericks quickly announced that Flagg would

Yankees' Fried wins 10th to make case as All-Star starter

BY JOE REEDY ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Aaron Boone still has a couple weeks before deciding who will be the American League's starting pitcher for the All-Star Game.

It could end up being one of his own players.

Max Fried became the first pitcher to reach 10 wins this season in the New York Yankees 7-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds on Wednesday night.

"It's down the road. We'll see. He's making the case though," Boone said about Fried's chances to start the midsummer classic on July 15 in Atlanta.

The left-hander allowed one unearned run and four hits while striking out seven to improve to 10-2.

Fried is the third Yankees pitcher since 1962 to be the first in the majors to reach double-digit victories, joining CC Sabathia in 2011 and Tommy John in 1979.

"I guess it's cool but we're all here just trying to win games. A lot of it is credit to my teammates. It's nice, but that's more of a team stat than an individual one," said Fried about reaching double digits in wins.

Fried signed a $218 million, eight-year contract with the Yankees last December and has excelled in his first year in pinstripes. He quickly became the staff's ace after Gerrit Cole was lost for the season during spring training due to Tommy John surgery on his right elbow.

Fried has four games this season where he has gone at least seven innings and not allowed an earned run, tied with Detroit's Tarik Skubal and San Diego's Nick Pivetta for most in the majors.

He's second in the majors with a 1.92 ERA and 108 innings.

"Ever since (Cole) went down he's shown us why they paid him what they paid him and why he's the guy we thought he was going to be. Especially someone who I played against for four or five years, to play behind him now is amazing," third baseman Jazz Chisholm Jr. said. "I always give him his prop and his flowers, but now he can take them any time he wants."

The 1.92 ERA is the third-lowest by a Yankees' pitcher is his first 17 starts with the club since earned runs became an official stat in both leagues in 1913.

Fried has allowed two or fewer earned runs in all but two starts. He has been even more dominant after Yankees' losses, going 8-1 with a 0.93 ERA in 10 starts.

"I mean 10 wins in half a season, it's not easy to do in any era, especially now. But that's just a testament to how good and efficient he's been," Boone said. "Whether it's coming off a loss or extending a streak, his consistency has been great."

"I told him again today 'just watching you more and more, I would not have wanted to hit off you.' He's

Boston scores career-high 31 as Fever beat Storm

BY ANDREW DESTIN ASSOCIATED PRESS

SEATTLE — Aliyah Boston scored a career-high 31 points and Kelsey Mitchell chipped in 26 points and five 3-pointers as the Indiana Fever beat the Seattle Storm 94-86 on Tuesday night.

Caitlin Clark scored just six points in the win on a tough shooting night. She went 0 for 6 from 3-point range and 3 for 13 from the field.

Boston's previous career best was 30 points on Sept. 8, 2024, against the Atlanta Dream. The 6-foot-5 forward and former No. 1 overall pick scored 26 points in her last game against the Las Vegas Aces, as well.

The duo of Mitchell and Boston was particularly impactful in a dominant third quarter for the Fever (7-7), when they outscored the Storm (9-6) 30-19. Mitchell had seven points in the quarter, while Boston added eight more, building a lead the Storm couldn't erase, despite a valiant late push.

Lexie Hull added 15 points and Damiris Dantas contributed 10 for the Fever. It was an impressive all-around effort from Indiana, especially considering Clark' recent struggles from beyond the 3-point arc continued. Clark has converted just 1 of her last 23 3-point attempts.

Seattle, which was led by Skylar Diggins' 22 points, initially controlled the pace of play, taking an 18-12 lead when forward Ezi Magbegor converted a three-point play with 3:52 to go in the first quarter. But, the rest of the first half belonged to the Fever.

Mitchell gave Indiana its largest advantage of the first half on a 3-pointer with 58.1 seconds left in the second quarter. The Fever entered halftime with a 45-39 lead despite a quiet first half from Clark, who had just two points before the break.

Indiana did its job in ensuring a crowd featuring an assortment of Seattle celebrities went home quietly. Local legends like Sue Bird, Megan Rapinoe, Isaiah Thomas and Lenny Wilkens were all in attendance.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The first draft is called ‘rough’ for a reason. Before sharing your proposal or plan, take the time to refine and polish it. Organize your thoughts, ensure clarity, and structure your message effectively so it conveys exactly what you need to say.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) When working toward a goal, it can be challenging to make adjustments, regardless of the circumstances. However, before dismissing a change outright, take time to assess the new environment – it might align with your plans more effectively than you initially thought.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Build strong friendships and actively network to enhance both social and professional success. Make thoughtful decisions to avoid regrets and always seek trustworthy advice before investing your hard-earned money.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your goals and aspirations can reach new heights. To maintain strong friendships and achieve business success, stay adaptable and open-minded. Expand your horizons by joining a group dedicated to creative pursuits – it could bring fresh inspiration and opportunities.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Too many leaders can result in a shortage of workers. Contribute in meaningful ways without letting control struggles create setbacks or misunderstandings. Inner peace comes when you embrace forgiveness, opening the door to healing and growth.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may be presenting awards, but you know the people in your life who truly deserve recognition. Take a moment to express your gratitude – let them know how much they mean to you and how they’ve made a difference in your life.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You could be so full of energy that it’s hard to concentrate. Channel that excess by taking a walk or hitting the gym – it’ll help clear your mind. Once you can focus without overwhelm, you may realize things are better than they seemed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Your goals may feel endlessly distant, yet the truth is that only you can turn your dreams into reality. Set aside your doubts and focus on the mind-set and the actions needed to make your vision come true.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Cooperation can be taken too far. You’re not required to give everything just to please someone else. Say yes only when it feels right and remember you can say no without offering explanations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You might be someone’s top priority, but overconfidence can still reveal flaws. When others are panicking and going in circles, stay calm – that’s how you’ll spot the most practical solution.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) When you’re in a strong negotiating position, it’s important to offer the other side some wins so they can leave feeling good too. The better they feel about the outcome, the more positive the relationship will be.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Kindness is like muscle; you have to use it to keep it strong. Look for ways to make life easier for others. The time you spend helping people gives you space to appreciate the life you’ve built for yourself.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Focusing on what you have is healthier than chasing what you think you lack. Remove the envy lens and notice how great your life already is. Embrace what’s yours and value the love and support around you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your loved ones may keep offering a calm refuge from the chaos. The peace they bring can be your shield when you step back into the world. Take a moment to show them how much they mean.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) When tensions rise, it’s smart to take a step back. A key relationship could be shifting, don’t take the bait. Hold onto higher values and helpful attitudes, with ‘sensible’ and ‘wise’ as your guideposts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Nights and weekends may not be enough. You may need to pause everything to decide where and whether to invest time and energy. Whether on a couch or a beach, this reset can reshape your goals for everything ahead.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The standards you’ve set are what others likely expect you to maintain. If you keep following the rules and managing responsibilities, those who rely on you will benefit. The foresight you bring could help everyone succeed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Taking thoughtful advice from friends might ease some of your responsibilities. While shopping can be fun, try to resist impulsive splurges and skip anything that doesn’t truly suit your style or needs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) It’s easy to get so focused on being first that you lose sight of the journey. As you navigate family matters, take time to choose your path wisely. Not every shortcut ends up saving time in the long run.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Being part of a community is about more than just where you live. Stepping out of your comfort zone will bring unexpected experiences. Connect with people who inspire you as you explore their world.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Get involved with groups and take part in local traditions. Exploring a variety of activities expands your perspective and brings fresh insights from different viewpoints. Tackling small tasks can clear the way for more free time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) When everyone’s rushing, important details can get missed. You might spend the day putting out fires and clarifying the right answers. This weekend, try listening more than leading, someone may surprise you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You could be hoping for more details than you’ve received, though everything appears open, and nothing seems hidden. Greater clarity may come once you stop searching for secrets. Trust might be what gets you to the finish line.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Pursue playtime with passion. Dive into work or really anything, with energy, though it’s possible you won’t feel fully content without a companion. If you boldly charm someone, you might discover the romance is mutual.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS OF ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATION HEARING
Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the Madison Consolidated Schools (the "School Corporation") that the Board of School Trustees (the "Board") of the School Corporation will meet at 2421 Wilson Avenue, Madison, Indiana, at the hour of 6:00 p.m. (Local Time) on July 16, 2025, to consider the following additional appropriation which the Board considers necessary to meet the need existing at this time:
An appropriation in the amount not to exceed $28,000,000, plus investment earnings thereon, on account of the renovation of and improvements to facilities throughout the School Corporation, including the construction of a new childcare and preschool building, demolition of EO Muncie, site improvements throughout the School Corporation and the purchase of equipment, buses, real estate and technology in the School Corporation (collectively, the "Project"), including the incidental expenses necessary to be incurred in connection with the Project. The funds to meet such additional appropriation are to be provided by the sale of real estate to the Madison Consolidated School Building Corporation.
The foregoing appropriation is in addition to all appropriations provided for in the existing budget and tax levy, and a need for such appropriation exists by reason of the inadequacy of the present buildings to provide necessary school facilities.
Taxpayers of the School Corporation appearing at the meeting shall have the right to be heard in respect to the additional appropriation. Dated this 24th day of June, 2025.

KEITH TAYLOR/Kentucky Today

Jasper Johnson is the son of former Kentucky football standout Dennis Johnson.

U19 US World Cup team will include Purdue, UK freshmen

BY KEITH TAYLOR
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

LEXINGTON — Kentucky freshman guard Jasper Johnson was named to the USA Men's U19 Basketball team that will compete in the FIBA U19 World Cup June 28-July 6 in Switzerland.

Johnson, son of former Kentucky football standout Dennis Johnson, was one of 12 players named to team, coached by Arizona's Tommy Lloyd. Mikel Brown Jr., AJ Dybantsa, Caleb Holt, Purdue signee Daniel Jacobsen, JJ Mandaquit, Morez Johnson Jr., Nik Khamenia, Brandon McCoy Jr., Koa Peat, Jordan Smith Jr. and Tyran Stokes also are on the team. Stokes is from Louisville.

It's not the first time Johnson will represent the U.S. in the World Cup. He earned a gold medal at 2024 FIBA U19 AmeriCup last summer and was also a part of the USA Men's Nike Hoop Summit Team earlier this spring that defeated the World Select team, 124-114, in overtime.

"I think Jasper Johnson is a superstar — I expect him to come in here and be great," Kentucky coach Mark Pope said. "For every freshman, there is a learning curve in terms of the physicality and intensity of the game, the relentless physicality and intensity of the game."

Playing for Overtime Elite last season, Johnson averaged 20.3 points, 5.8 assists, 5.9 rebounds and 1.8 steals per game. He shot 59% from the field and 36% from behind the arc.

"Jasper Johnson has got a really, really incredible skill set," Pope said. "He's one of those guys. There are very few players who just go get a shot whenever they want it. He can do it."

Pope said Johnson also is an elite defender.

"He's got an ability to do things defensively that are going to be surprising," Pope said. "I think he's got an incredible upside on the defensive side of the ball also. I think he's got a crafty, slippery nature where he can get downhill."

Arizona's Tommy Lloyd will be the head coach of the team, with Grant McCasland (Texas Tech), Micah Shrewsberry (Notre Dame), Hubert Davis (North Carolina), Nate Oats (Alabama) and Mark Pope (Kentucky) serving as assistants.

Team USA opens its tournament on Saturday against Cameroon at 10:45 a.m.

wear No. 32 in Dallas, where fellow Duke products Kyrie Irving and Dereck Lively II are on the roster.

"I'm really excited. I think I keep saying I'm excited to be a sponge, to get down there and just learn, be surrounded by Hall of Fame-caliber guys and just to be able to learn from them," Flagg said. "It's going to be an incredible experience."

His selection — considered likely ever since Flagg showed off his considerable game last summer after being invited to the U.S. Olympic team's training camp — was a daylong celebration in his home state for the 18-year-old forward from Newport, Maine.

"It means a lot to me to have the support of the whole state. I know how many people showed up today and supported me at some of the draft parties back home," Flagg said. "It feels amazing knowing I can inspire younger kids. I was in their shoes really not that long ago, so just to know I can give those kids those feelings and have the whole state behind me, it means a lot."

He joined Elton Brand, Irving, Zion Williamson and Paolo Banchero as Duke players drafted No. 1 since 1999, and he returned the draft to its longtime start with a one-and-done college player.

That's the way the draft began every year from 2010 until Banchero's selection in 2022, but the last two No. 1 picks, Victor Wembanyama and Zaccharie Risacher, are both from France.
